

Caged Authors

OUR MISSION

Caged Authors is a subsidiary of Caged CONquest with the goal to help inmates who are already published authors or those desiring to be published authors. If you've written a book, are writing a book, or thinking of writing a book, we would like to assist you. We also have ideas for incarcerated authors to get their essays, short stories and poems in print and published in books.

My name is David W. Pollard, CEO and founder of Caged CONquest, and I served more than 20+ years in state and federal institutions. I've always been a writer, but not until my last 7+ year stint behind bars did I finally dedicate myself to writing, and during that time I completed 11 books, 3 of which I published while inside and it put a little starting money in my pocket upon release. I'd like to see that for others, or for them to be able to help support their children and loved ones.

PUBLISHED AUTHORS

Caged Authors is a work in progress and right now we will concentrate on those who currently have already published a book while inside. If you have written a book and it is currently for sale somewhere online, send us the URL(s) to your book(s) and we'll put a link to them on our website to drive traffic to you (this is at no cost to you and we do it merely to help those inside in any way that we can). If you would like to send a photo of yourself and bio to promote your book, we will post that on the website.

UNPUBLISHED AUTHORS

If you have a completed manuscript and ready to publish your book, send us a one-page synopsis of the book and we will eventually pursue avenues of getting it published, such as possible crowdfunding. We will not type or edit your book for you, so eventually you'll have to type it out yourself utilizing your institution's email service if you have access to such, or your people on the streets will have to assist you. If you do not have those as options and are all on your own, we'll see if we can possibly get funding or volunteers to assist in the endeavor. Like I said, this is a work in progress and can go a bunch of different ways.

WRITERS

If you haven't written a complete book yet, but are working on one, or if you are writing short stories, essays or poems, send us a letter (no more than a page long) of what you're doing and what your writing goals and ambitions are, and we'll see how we can help. We have some book anthology ideas in mind and maybe can help get you published and on your way to a writing career and ultimately to getting your own book published either before or after prison.

NOT A PUBLISHING HOUSE SCAM

Beware the many publishers out there that are charging you to get your book into print – many of these are scams and only out to get your money and could care less if anyone sees or buys your books. Caged Authors will never charge you anything; our goal is to help you get published so you can make money to help your families while you are down. A portion of any profits generated selling inmates' books will also go towards a victim fund charity so we're in some way giving back to the community.

WRITE US NOW

If you have any interest at all in writing, send us your information, even if you've not completed anything, so that we can put you on a mailing list and utilize your talents and excess of time to use. If you know of other writers in your institution, pass on this info. The more writers and works we can share online, the more people we'll draw to the site which means more possible sales and recognition.
